SOMETHING STRONGER THAN OUR CEMENT.

The entrepreneurial spirit of women.

A WOMEN'S DAIRY COOPERATIVE
WE HELPED SPARK ASPIRES TO BE A MARKET LEADER.

In the village of Darlaghat, Himachal Pradesh, where an Ambuja factory is located, livestock was a major source of revenue. However, no access to quality veterinary care led to loss of livestock and income. Our people decided to change this, and in the process challenge the status quo. They trained 23 women to provide prompt and qualified cattle healthcare. Cattle numbers quickly shot up three-fold. This success gave the women the confidence to join hands and establish a dairy business. This year, their turnover reached ₹57.4 lakh, providing 202 women with additional incomes. But they have set their sights even higher - to become the largest dairy cooperative in their region. We believe it was the 'I Can' spirit of our people reflected in the entrepreneurial actions of these women. Here are the results for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2018.
